Collections Barred, Accounting Ordered

The Madison County Circuit Court after a hearing Wednesday morning issued a temporary injunction against solicitation and collection of funds here by Earle Trigg or his representatives.

The temporary injunction replaces a ten-day restraining order issued Feb. 8.

The drive to pay for a child's operation had begun in late January and prompted some Quad-Cityans to question whether there were adequate financial safeguards.

The court yesterday called for an accounting of funds to be made at a hearing at 9 a.m. Feb. 28. That hearing may determine whether the injunction should be removed or made permanent.

Trigg, who represented himself without counsel Wednesday, said some of the financial records will have to be obtained from Tennessee. A former Granite Cityan, he is employed by State Fair Productions of Nashville.

No further withdrawals can be made from the financial account while the temporary injunction is in effect.

Testimony indicated commissions had been paid at a rate of 15% to those hired to make telephone calls and to persons employed to collect contributions or ticket payments.

The promoter said he has never presented "an empty stage" and that he plans to provide musical entertainment March 4 even if he has to seek singers who will participate without pay. "Otherwise, there'll be a lot of mad people on the sidewalk," he remarked.

He said he hopes to transfer promotion of the show to another booking agency.

The court indicated plans to appoint a guardian to represent the child in the expenditure of funds.

It was stated during the hearing that the promoter and the company employing him have not registered the solicitation with the state, have not posted the required state bond and have not registered as an Illinois domestic or foreign corporation.

Mrs. Dona Snyder of Granite City testified that she had responded to an employment advertisement in good faith and that her only role was to travel to addresses supplied to her and collect a total of about $125 in ticket funds and donations during parts of three days.

Insurance coverage related to the child's hospitalization and surgery has paid $4,083 of the $4,088 expenses reported to the insurer, the Press-Record disclosed Monday.

EARLE TRIGG

Receipts Cannot Be Used for Ad

Reporting that he planned a major newspaper advertisement regarding a fund drive he has promoted here, Earle Trigg yesterday unsuccessfully sought permission to pay for it with receipts from the drive.

A court order has frozen the drive's financial account pending a detailed accounting scheduled for Feb. 28.

Trigg took the position that an advertisement is the only way he can present his views of the drive.

"I'm familiar with radio and television and know that they are regulated by the Federal Communications Commission," he said. "Isn't there something we can do about a newspaper?"

A few minutes later, Trigg heatedly declined to submit a statement for publication without charge.

However, based on his visit to the Press-Record on Tuesday, it is believed that Trigg wanted to call attention to a purported contract said to show the signature of a member of a Granite City family, as sponsor of a country music show and also the signature of an officer of an organization.

The organization, which voted not to participate, was sought for the use of its good name for the purpose of soliciting ticket sales and publicity.

The sponsor, for which the family member affixed his signature, was to receive a share of the proceeds. However, the pact could be construed in various ways in attempting to

Threat by Promoter

Earle Trigg, promoter of a fund drive in the Quad-Cities, threatened a Press-Record representative in Courtroom No. 3 at the Madison County Courthouse yesterday.

Blaming his difficulties with the drive on what he said were "lies" in the newspaper, Trigg said he doubts that he will be able to contain himself from trying to cause bodily harm to the editor.

He had contended during a hearing yesterday morning that it would cost "$2.87 a column inch to place an advertisement in the Press-Record" in order to convey "the truth" about the drive to the public.

A Press-Record newsmen approached him at the end of the hearing to say that any explanation he might wish to make would be regarded as news and could be printed without charge in the news section, rather than as a paid advertisement.

Replying that the newspaper had "lied" about the drive, the usually glib, smiling Trigg displayed rage. He then voiced the threat within the hearing of two newsmen.

The threat was made in the courtroom while many of those attending the hearing were still present and others were in an adjacent corridor.

Newspaper Praised By State

John J. Lowrey, special assistant attorney general, praised the Press-Record this week for its role in publicizing aspects of a fund drive which is being challenged by Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott.

Lowrey, who came here from Chicago to assist in the case Feb. 8, commented in a letter dated Feb. 12 that "your willingness to stick your neck out and act as the conscience of the community made it much easier for me to get at the basic facts of the situation."

"The people of the Quad-Cities are certainly very fortunate to have you as editor. We could certainly use somebody like you up here."

County Shared Revenue Going to Enforcement, Tax Office, Recreation

By MARION BARTOSIAK Press-Record Staff Writer

The Madison County Board allocated its federal revenue sharing funds of $840,000 to help finance four areas of county government during its meeting Wednesday morning in the court house at Edwardsville.

It was the total amount designated for the county covering the 1972 calendar year, though $21,528 of the amount has yet to be received.

Most of the money, $729,000, is earmarked for law enforcement, $50,000 for finance and administration, $20,000 for sanitation and pollution control and $32,000 for recreation.

The money was included in the budget which was adopted by the board prior to receipt of the federal funds.

It will not provide for additional services or employees, it was explained by J. J. Gramlich, finance committee chairman. The funds will be transferred to the general county revenue fund by county Treasurer George Musso.

An accounting of the use of the money with the federal government is required by the federal entitlement act.

Specific uses for the money include: Law enforcement — Sheriff's department salaries, $40,000; state's attorney department salaries and office expenses, $80,000; adult and juvenile probation office salaries and expenses, $19,000.

Finance and administration — County treasurer office, tax collection department salaries, $10,000, and county treasurer salaries and office expenses, $20,000.

Recreation — Parks and recreation salaries, $9,000; office expenses and purchase of park and playground equipment, $22,400.

The finance committee pointed out that the allocation meets permissible expenditures under the Federal Revenue Sharing Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972.

An objection to the allocation of all of the funds now was raised by Mrs. Sibyl H. Belliss, a board member from East Alton, who argued that more pressing needs will appear later in the year.

But County Auditor John Kraynak said, "The general revenue fund is broke. The money was obligated to the general fund. It's needed now."

"The money will be used to pay what is in the budget. This is where it is needed," he reiterated.

The board received a request from the Bi-State Development Agency for 10% of the shared funds to help keep buses in operation after April 1, but the request was ordered filed without comment.

The proposed plan is to be discussed at public hearings and then be considered for adoption at the March meeting of the Madison County Board.

The "Major Concepts and Proposals" section relates that "the basic conceptual design of this plan encourages urban growth to locate in and adjacent to existing urban centers or corridors to maximize the benefits of existing and proposed urban services."

"All major development areas are designated with this concept as a basic guide and scattered development is discouraged in other areas."

"A discussion of specific development areas is contained within the subsequent sections of this plan devoted to the five planning districts within the county."

"Land use allocations are based on an Average Land Use Allocation Model in conjunction with other studies, reports, planning programs and Plan Commission recommendations."

"However, because of the vast size of the American Bottoms some significant

New Production Method Planned At Press-Record

Work began Tuesday at the Press-Record to prepare the building for the latest types of phototypesetting and platemaking equipment.

Paul G. Halbert, general manager, said the transition to a new method of producing the newspaper is expected to be completed during the fall of 1973.

"The goal is an ultra-modern production process which will provide news and advertising text and illustrations in a more efficient manner, with increased speed and with improved quality," Halbert commented.

The Press-Record, through its owner, the Post Corporation of Appleton, Wis., has had as its constant objective the best possible newspaper for this important area of the bi-state region and Illinois.

"Thanks to the outstanding acceptance the Press-Record has been privileged to enjoy throughout its 70-year history in the Quad-Cities, we have been able to plan new departments which will replace all phases except the pressroom and the news-advertising-business offices."

"And even the pressroom and office areas will gain the benefits of added space and improved facilities and techniques," he concluded.

Members of the Press-Record composing room staff have been receiving instruction so that they will be able to produce the newspaper by the photocomposition method.

Instead of actual metal type, the process will utilize type images on film strips, projected at high speed onto photosensitive paper.

Computerized machines operated by both tape and keyboards will provide images of desired sizes and widths, offering greater flexibility than the present supply of type molds.

The type images, when developed and printed, will be pasted onto page-size sheets containing articles, headlines, advertisements, photographs and drawings.

Completed pages will be photographed. Full-size negatives then will be placed atop photosensitive plastic sheets, exposed and developed.

The flexible plastic sheets, known as pattern plates, will be placed directly on the existing 22-page Goss Universal letterpress. The inked reproductions are regarded as having greater clarity than those possible under the present method.

Currently, relatively flat arrangements of metal are pressed against cardboard mats. The mats need to be curved to form the shape of metal page plates, which are cast in molten form and placed on the press after the plates cool.

Metal page casts no longer will be necessary.

New equipment other than the photographic darkroom and Dynaflex platemaking section will primarily involve three Compugraphic Corp. computers and their related typesetting and processing units.

Cores will be the seven huge Intertype machines at which printers set lines of type molds to cast "hot metal" type.

Replacing them in the new "cold" procedure will be the CG 2961HS, a phototypesetter that produces text material at 60 lines per minute. Driven by type on which characters have been typed without regard to margins, it will automatically hyphenate words and "justify" margins for uniform column width. Its type size range is from five to 12 point (an inch-deep letter is 72 points).

ACM 9000, a 5-to-72-point machine both keyboard and tape-operated, with speed of 25 lines per minute. All characters and sizes are base aligning and may be freely mixed, even within a line.

CG 2961HS, a keyboard-operated display phototypesetting machine with a range of up to 120-point size, producing text to 12 characters per second.

Film strips of varying fonts will be affixed multiple type faces. Font and size changes can be made in seconds on the three phototypesetting machines.

"Many of the improvements

County Ready To Bar Local Development

Nor only planners but many elected Madison County officials are prepared to officially "discourage" and "postpone" and prevent local development, an investigation by the Press-Record disclosed today.

The attitude of opposing Quad-City development is spelled out in the preliminary draft of a 1973 Madison County land use plan.

The proposed plan is to be discussed at public hearings and then be considered for adoption at the March meeting of the Madison County Board.

The "Major Concepts and Proposals" section relates that "the basic conceptual design of this plan encourages urban growth to locate in and adjacent to existing urban centers or corridors to maximize the benefits of existing and proposed urban services."

Madison Rejects Bi-State Plea for Revenue Share

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The city of Madison has rejected a second check in the amount of $43,811 of federal revenue sharing funds, the City Council was informed at its meeting Tuesday night.

The council decided to deposit the money in a bank for 60 days pending a decision on its use.

The council considered a request by the Bi-State Development Agency to make 10% of federal revenue funds available to keep the Bi-State bus system in operation after April 1. Bi-State is asking local municipalities to share in making up a financial deficit which could halt operation of buses this spring.

Second Ward Alderman Donald Broyles expressed dissent, and Mayor Mike Sasyk agreed, saying that "I don't think any action should be taken until the (Bi-State's) financial problems are settled."

The council adopted a motion to contact Illinois Power Co. to determine cost estimates on placing high tension street lights, like those along Madison Avenue, at every intersection in the city.

Mayor Sasyk said the program could be started on an experimental basis, and "it would really light up the town."

The mayor announced that the system regarding complaints received from residents will be revamped. He said for "aggressive efforts to get this town cleaned up. We will send offenders a letter, and if there is no compliance, we will sue it to court."

He ordered every department head to attend every council meeting to receive complaints and to report on progress regarding the complaints at the following meeting. He told the aldermen, "You'll know exactly what happened to your complaint. The complaint will be brought up at every meeting until they are taken care of."

Areas of health department problems included Third Street and Alton Avenue where rubbish, trash and junk clutter on an old store lot, trash in yards in the 1500 block of Fifth Street and at two homes in the 1800 block of Fifth St. A request was made to immediately remove a tree and garage at 1807 Fourth St.

The council approved $318 as the city share in the Madison County Emergency Employment Program. A letter was received from Dan Churovich, program director, announcing that the deadline for the program was extended from March 15 until June.

Mayor Sasyk announced that a glaucoma clinic will be held March 2 at Schermer's Market where eyes may be screened under the sponsorship of the Madison Lions Club.

The mayor also called for a police department survey and a report on the number of traffic accidents which have occurred in the last five years at the railroad crossing at 14th and State streets prior to petitioning the state for crossing lights.

Mayor Sasyk noted that the Madison City Organization slate is without opposition in the April election and said, "The citizens have confidence that we are going to upgrade our city. The people are looking for renovations and improvements. Changes must be made in management policies in departments."

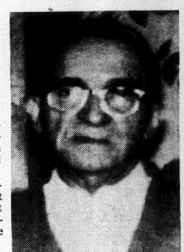

He announced that the first meeting of the shopping center committee will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the city hall, and that meetings also will be held next week by the mapping and planning committee and of the Chain of Rocks committee.

"The shopping center project has No. 1 priority," the mayor said. "It will provide more taxes and more employment."

Gary Novich, recreation director, announced that a ping pong season will begin Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Madison Recreation Center, with activities from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., for children, and for adults if there is sufficient interest.

He said tournaments and exhibitions by Norman Popmarkoff will be scheduled.

He also announced that there will be 18 teams in the Men's Softball League, 10 teams more than last year. He also said a women's league will be operated for the first time with 12 to

Ely Grubich, 85 Dies;
Ex-Depot Employee

Ely Grubich, 85, of 1212 Rhodes St., Granite City, a man well known to anyone who has been a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital for his daily visits to all rooms with a cheerful greeting and prayer, died at the hospital at 9:05 a.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Grubich made the daily visits for over 20 years until last year when his health failed, but he continued visiting those who were ill at least twice a week.

He had been ill for three years and a patient at the hospital for a week.

A native of Serbia, now a part of Yugoslavia, he had lived in Granite City 48 years. He formerly lived in Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Grubich was a charter member of Tri-City Tabernacle Assembly of God Church and was honored as one of the oldest members at a dinner reception given at the church in December.

He first attended services when the church met in a tent at 12th Street and Meridian Ave., and was instrumental in building the first building on that site.

The church is now located at Clark Avenue and Buenger Boulevard and was built about five years ago.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Sophia Popovich of Columbus, Ohio; four nephews and three nieces.

Funeral services were held Tuesday. Details are given in the obituary column.

Hearing Here Called Off by Federal EPA

A hearing scheduled yesterday in which Granite City officials were to report on progress toward installation of chlorination facilities in the city's primary sewage treatment plant was postponed on order of Walter Romanek of the enforcement division of the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The hearing was scheduled in the city hall at 10 a.m. City Attorney Leon Scroggins said he was notified by letter that the hearing would not be held. No new date has been set for the hearing, Scroggins said.

The postponement came after M. W. Engineers and Architects, St. Louis engineering firm handling the planning and engineering for the city's secondary sewage treatment program, notified the federal EPA that it has been retained by the city to complete planning and engineering for the chlorination facilities.

The federal EPA has insisted that Granite City install the disinfectant process while the secondary treatment plant is being built, but the city has balked because of an estimated $50,000 cost and the fact that the installation will be temporary. The facilities will be abandoned when the new plant is completed.

List Township On Tax Return

(Internal Revenue Service)
Q The revenue sharing questions on my federal tax form ask for my township. How can I find out what township I live in?

A) Less than half of the states have organized township governments which are eligible for revenue sharing funds.
These states are listed in your tax form instructions.
If you live in one of these states and in a county having organized township governments and you are not sure which township you live in, call your local county commissioner's office, tax assessor's office, city hall, etc., and describe where you live. Please do not call your Internal Revenue office.

Q Will the IRS be open extra hours this year to help taxpayers with their returns?

A) Yes. During the income tax filing season most local Internal Revenue offices are open an average of eight additional hours per week.
Some offices are open additional hours on weekdays, while others are remaining open on the weekend.

Q I elected to have the IRS compute my tax this year. Will this slow down the refund I'm expecting?

A) No. The IRS can compute the tax and issue a refund within 4-6 weeks from the date the return is filed with the IRS service center.

Q I operate my own farm.
Can I claim investment credit on my livestock as well as on my tractors and other qualifiing farm equipment?

A) Yes. Livestock (other than horses) acquired by you after Aug. 15, 1971 (or before Aug.
16, 1972, but only if ordered after March 31, 1971) qualifies for the investment credit.

For more details, see IRS
Publication 225, "Farmers Tax Guide."
It's available free of charge from county farm agents and most Internal Revenue offices.

Q There's space on Schedule
B of my tax return for "miscellaneous deductions." What are some of these items I can deduct?

A) If you itemize deductions on your return, the following are some of the items you can deduct as "miscellaneous deductions":

Political contributions (up to $50, or up to $100 if married filing jointly); cost of safety equipment, small tools, and supplies used in your job.

Dues to unions, professional organizations, chambers of commerce; fees you paid to employment agencies to get a job.

Gambling losses, but only up to the amount you won; and alimony payments.

For more information, see IRS Publication 529, "Other Miscellaneous Deductions."

Just fill out and mail the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

Q I purchased a car for my son last year.
Does the amount I paid count toward his support when I
claim him as a dependent?

A) No. The purchase of an automobile, whether by you or your dependent, is not considered when determining total support.

Petitions Ask Walker to Inspect Water Damage

Petitions asking Gov. Dan Walker to visit here for an inspection of homes damaged by water in the Doboy Slough area of Nameoki Township are being circulated this week as a result of the rejection by the Granite City Council of an agreement under which the state would build drainage improvements for the area.

The petitions also request the governor to lend his support to obtaining city approval of the project, according to Mrs. Helen Hawkins, leader of a group of residents of the slough area who have been seeking relief from flooding conditions.

The City Council in its Feb. 5 meeting refused acceptance of an agreement with the Illinois State Division of Waterways in which the city would permit use of the Amos Avenue stormwater sewer in developing a drainage improvement program for the slough area. The council rejected the agreement after it contended a "hold harmless" clause covering liability was not included.

The council also maintained the agreement did not include provisions for city control of pumps during heavy rains so that flow of water from the slough could be shut off if it threatened to overflow Nameoki ditch, into which floodwater will be drained.

The council referred the agreement to City Attorney Leon Scroggins for further talks with John Guillo, chief engineer of the waterways division, concerning the required stipulations. Scroggins said yesterday he has written Guillo concerning the matter.

County Ready

development problems exist. "Hillside drainage, internal flooding and ponding and Darwin soils constitute the major developmental concerns but these problems are in progress to more precisely identify the nature and extent of these problems and to develop and implement solutions."

"One of the most important progress is a United States Army Corp of Engineers drainage study. This study will result in proposals for drainage improvement areas in the Madison County portion of the American Bottoms."

"Development within any of the areas identified on the land use map as having internal flooding or ponding problems will be postponed until the final drainage studies have been completed."

"It is recommended that development within any of the areas identified on the land use map as having internal flooding or ponding problems will be postponed until the final drainage studies have been completed."

Regarding natural resource development, the goal outlined is "to maintain control of the County's natural resources and to protect and enhance the natural resources of the County for future generations."

Objectives are listed as:

"1. To preserve the remaining wooded areas, scenic vistas and historic sites from destruction and encroachment by urban development, sprawl and other problems."

"2. To preserve and protect areas of natural beauty, sites and historic sites, scenic vistas and historic sites from destruction and encroachment by urban development, sprawl and other problems."

"3. To insure that all future strip mine operations utilize simultaneous excavation and rehabilitation methods which will return the stripped land to useful purpose according to a predetermined plan."

"4. To discourage development which is physically inconsiderate such as soil types, drainage patterns, internal flooding, ponding and steep slopes and other problems which are detrimental to mental and/or health problems."

Planning District Three is described as being "dominated by a major urban area—Granite City, Madison and Venice—on the west and by large areas of open land on the east. Major industrial areas are contained within the area and the areas of historic significance is continuing to the east and north of Granite City and land is being purchased for a state park at Horseshoe Lake."

House Bill Would Refund $80 Million to Taxpayers

State Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City), announced today that he has co-sponsored legislation creating the Illinois Tax Refund Act of 1973 to return $80 million of surplus state funds to Illinois taxpayers. Calvo noted that the state treasurer's office and other agencies have estimated that a surplus will be realized at the end of the present fiscal year.

"The surplus," Calvo said, "is the result of over-taxation of the people and also the result of an improvement in the economy of the inflationary period we are now going through."

Rep. Calvo continued, "The money will be returned proportionately to the taxpayer based on the amount of state income tax he paid in the year 1971."

He said, in his estimate, a taxpayer who paid $100 of state income tax in 1971 could expect a refund of some $8 to $9.

Along with the new legislation, a companion bill would appropriate the $80 million and appropriate funds to the Department of Revenue for the cost of distributing the money to the taxpayers.

"The surplus I want to distribute to taxpayers is evidence that we legislators who voted against the high Ogilvie income tax were correct in contending that it was too high," Calvo said.

Press-Record Sports

SIUE Sharp at Free Throws

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's basketball team is deadly at the free-throw line.

The Cougars' captain and senior guard, Tony Johnson, is third in the nation with a .896 average over 19 games. And the Cougars as a team are fourth in the United States with an aggregate .747, just 10 points from the top.

Coach Jim Dudley's SIUE Cougars won a 70-60 decision Sunday over Eastern Michigan University, at the free-throw line. Eastern outshot them from the floor, 28-26, but at the charity stripe it was another story: SIUE hit on 18-of-23 while the Hurons could put down only 11-of-20. In the process, Johnson made nine-of-11 for the Cougars, and Terry Carlson hit on seven-of-nine for SIUE.

SIUE's leadership at the free-throw line was carried in the most recent official basketball statistics collected and published by National Collegiate Sports Service for the NCAA college division teams.

Park City Basketball Tourney Set Saturday

The Granite City Park District will conclude its youth basketball program Saturday at Nameoki School and Coolidge Junior High School with the city championship tourney.

The third and fourth grade division will play at Nameoki School and the fifth and sixth grade division will play at Coolidge.

The tournament is an outgrowth of the basketball program conducted at three local schools, Nameoki, Coolidge and Prather Junior High. Each year, on the Saturday following Thanksgiving, the boys register at any of the three schools. They are instructed in the fundamentals of basketball, such as passing, dribbling, shooting and guarding, by the instructors for the first four to five weeks of the program and then arranged into teams by the instructors for competition.

At the end of the season, the first two teams in each division at each school participate in the city championships, where the winning team in each division is presented with individual trophies for its members. This past year, the program involved some 30 teams, with 150 boys participating.

The schedule:

3rd-4th grade division—9 a.m., Coolidge; 9:45 a.m., winner of game 1 vs. Prather Globetrotters; 9:45 a.m., winner of game 1 vs. Prather Globetrotters.

5th-6th grade division—9 a.m., Coolidge Lakes vs. Nameoki Chargers; 9:45 a.m., winner of game 1 vs. Prather Arrows; 10:30 a.m., Nameoki Celtics vs. Coolidge Trojans; noon championship, winners of games 2 and 3.

Bartender Arrested Over Tavern Hours

Ronald W. Miller, 30, a bartender at the Twilight Tavern, 905 Niedringhaus Ave., was arrested at 3:05 a.m. Tuesday on a tavern hours violation charge. A police officer on patrol reported that he noticed at 2:35 a.m. that several persons were inside and that five minutes later seven persons left, but when he drove by again several minutes later some persons remained inside the tavern. The report said the bartender was warned of a similar violation four weeks ago. Taverns are required to close at 4 a.m.

Doubling of Student Housing Is Planned

A $5½ million sale of University Facilities revenue bonds, authorized by the Southern Illinois University board, is intended to finance purchase of a 248-unit SIUE student housing complex to be built by the SIU Foundation. The bond series would be for a 30-year term with interest not to exceed 7½% a year. Trustees voted to retain the New York firm of Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander as bond counsel and Midwest Securities Co. of Chicago as fiscal agent for the housing project. They also authorized Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, to transfer title of approximately 30 acres north of the existing Tower Lake student housing to the SIU Foundation for development of the housing, after approval of specific bond and contractual terms by the trustees. The foundation was requested to accept title to the property and enter into a contract with Consumers Development and Construction, Ltd., of Chicago, for construction of the facilities. The contract is not to exceed $4,822,920. The trustees are asking the foundation to stipulate that separate specifications be prepared for the required plumbing, heating, piping and refrigeration, air conditioning and electric wiring. Independent bidding on each of the specialty contracts will be sought, with awards going to the lowest qualified bidders. Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander have agreed to render an unqualified opinion on the proposed revenue bonds and Midwest Securities said it will guarantee sale of $5.5 million in bonds. The U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development will provide an interest subsidy grant of at least $1 million.

Gateway Task Force Plan Urges More Housing in Quad-Cities

The Housing Task Force of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council will hold a public hearing on the council's proposed regional housing plan which suggests the need of 2,814 additional housing units in the Quad-City area.

The hearing will be held in the Fireside Room of the First Presbyterian Church, 4th and Abby streets, Alton, at 10 a.m. on Monday, Feb. 26.

Public officials and interested citizens have been invited to attend.

Two priorities are proposed in the plan. First, those areas of greatest need should receive maximum assistance, and preservation and conservation programs should be instituted in areas threatened by blight.

Second, low and moderate income housing opportunities must be expanded throughout the region.

The eight counties of the metropolitan region have been divided into 49 planning districts. Madison County divided into five districts.

In Madison County there is a total of 78,468 occupied housing units. Of this number 68,821 are adequate. This leaves a need for 9,647 adequate additional housing units.

Specific figures by planning districts in Madison County are as follows:

District 1 (Alton, East Alton, Wood River and environs), 28,425 of the 31,742 housing units are adequate, leaving a need for 3,317 units.

District 2 (Granite City, Madison, Venice and environs), 20,389 of the 23,203 housing units are adequate, leaving a need for 2,814 units.

District 3 (Hamel, Williamson, and environs), 3,078 of the 4,033 housing units are adequate, leaving a need for 955 units.

District 4 (Collinsville, Edwardsville, Troy and environs), 13,880 of the 15,551 housing units are adequate, leaving a need for 1,671 housing units.

District 5 (Highland and environs), 3,068 of the 3,309 housing units are adequate, leaving a need for 241 units.

Other major points in the proposed plan call for each planning area to meet its own needs, and local communities making the decisions as to the location of low and moderate income housing.

The plan also calls for the creation of "risk pools" to provide financing for loans in so-called high-risk and marginal areas and strong encouragement against unfair real estate practices.

Local governments are urged to use revenue sharing money to fight deterioration and blight.

Location of new housing should include an evaluation of site characteristics, availability of utilities, cost, and the character of surrounding area.

building codes are proposed as are regional code enforcement and building inspections.

Each jurisdiction should insure that zoning provisions do not prohibit low and moderate cost housing. Other proposals designed to insure housing quality and prevent overcrowding include occupancy permits.

Pet Adoption Clinic Saturday in Downtown

The Student Branch of the Association for Protection of Animals will hold a pet adoption project Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at Aqua Land, 1233 Nineteenth St.

Among the animals to be offered for adoption is a 3-year-old white male poodle, eligible to be registered, according to Miss Kathy Harsh, staff advisor to the student group. The poodle is "very" healthy, has had all necessary shots, but is not suited to a home with small children, the adviser said.

Other pets to be made available for adoption include a 5-month-old white collie pup with brown face markings, a part-collie female, 3 months, several part-shepherd and two part-poodles puppies and three of four long-haired baby guinea pigs.

At an APA adoption clinic two weeks ago, homes were found for all animals with exception of one dog, Miss Harsh said.

A donation is asked of those adopting animals, with the amount varying, the adviser said. She explained the funds collected in this manner help to pay the cost of inoculations and the remainder is added to the APA public education fund.

BREAK-IN AT PRE-SCHOOL

Several flags, staplers and other small items were taken during a burglary at the Granite City School District Pre-School Center, 25th Street and Logan Avenue. It was reported at 8:50 a.m. Wednesday. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in the front door. The desks in all of the classrooms were ransacked.

CONDUCT CHARGE FILED

Don Hutchinson, 28, of 72 Garesche Homes, Madison, was arrested at 8:45 p.m. Monday at 14th Street and Edwardsville Road on a complaint charging disorderly conduct filed by Lola Barker, 220 E. 20th St., who reported he was knocking and kicking her door.

Change from a cigarette machine was stolen during a burglary at the Arco service station, 3111 Avenue and Nameoki Road, it was reported at 12:40 p.m. Tuesday. A candy machine also had been opened. Entry to the building was gained through a side window.

STRUCK ON STATE

The car of John Sargital, 1102 Grand Ave., Madison, parked in the 1100 block of State Street, Madison, was struck by a hit and run vehicle, Sargital reported at 12:10 a.m. Tuesday.

GC Man Charged with Aiding Escaped Killer Caught Here

Donald J. Bodine, 35, of 2156A Washington Ave., was charged at 1:50 p.m. Monday with aiding a fugitive in connection with the capture Sunday of a murderer who had escaped from the St. Louis city jail on Feb. 3.

Bodine was taken into custody after Roger Williams, 33, of St. Louis, who was in the apartment at 2156B Washington Ave., had surrendered.

Police Chief Ronald Veizer said Bodine was found hiding in a refrigerator in his apartment of the duplex building.

Bodine appeared before Chief Judge Fred P. Schuman, who set bond at $5,000 and ordered a preliminary hearing for 10 a.m. Friday at Edwardsville. He later was released on $500 cash bail.

Another man who was taken into custody was released without charge.

Chief Veizer said information on the location of Williams, one of 12 prisoners who had escaped simultaneously from the jail, had been developed by St. Louis detectives.

After the house was surrounded by 14 city and seven state policemen and four St. Louis detectives, Veizer said he telephoned the apartment, occupied by a woman and two children, and ordered Williams to surrender with his hands up.

He quoted Williams as saying that he had injured his legs in the escape and would have to crawl out. "Then crawl out," Veizer told him, and Williams crawled out the front door.

He had a broken left ankle and an injury to his right arm suffered when he jumped from the window of the St. Louis jail.

Williams was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he waived extradition and then was taken to a St. Louis hospital for treatment before being returned to the St. Louis jail.

Williams was convicted of murder and robbery of a St. Louis service station operator and was awaiting transfer to the Missouri penitentiary.

The petition was filed by William B. Starnes, attorney for the trustees, who said a hearing date of March 12 set by the Supreme Court a week ago when Starnes filed a petition for leave to seek an "extraordinary writ of prohibition" should be advanced because of the urgency of the problem.

Judge Beatty's order was given in an injunction proceeding filed by Madison County Levee Trustees William "Mike" Ebersold and Russell Robinson to prevent expenditure of district money while the court was determining the legality of state legislation splitting the old district along county lines.

St. Clair County levee officials have said they could not cope with flooding if heavy spring rains occur because the Madison County court order restricts use of district funds to operations now under way.

St. Mary's CYO Seeks Abortion Law Change

Members of the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) of St. Mary's Church in Venice will canvass neighborhoods Saturday seeking signatures on petitions against the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling on abortion.

A concentrated effort throughout Illinois is being launched by CYO groups who want an amendment to the United States Constitution to read "No person, from the moment of conception, shall be denied the equal protection of the laws of the United States or any subdivision thereof."

Youths spearheading the drive are Bob Schodroski, Jackie Parkner and Danny Scarbro.

The Rev. John O'Connell, pastor of St. Mark's Church, is advising the group.

Levee Trustees Want Spending Ban Lifted

Request for an immediate hearing on a petition to remove an order by Madison County Circuit Judge Walter Beatty which limits spending of the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District to "necessary" functions has been filed with the Illinois Supreme Court.

The petition was filed by William B. Starnes, attorney for the trustees, who said a hearing date of March 12 set by the Supreme Court a week ago when Starnes filed a petition for leave to seek an "extraordinary writ of prohibition" should be advanced because of the urgency of the problem.

The certification shows an increase of $184,250 over 1971, the first increase in 10 years. The 1971 valuation was $15,473,515. In addition to the state-assessed valuations, the local assessment on railroads is $478,495 and on improvements in leased property by the railroads is $266,640, making the total on all railroad assessments for 1972 at $16,402,705.

State assessments of individual lines for 1972, with 1971 valuations listed in parenthesis, follow:

Alton & Southern, $234,489 ($226,307); Chicago & Eastern Illinois, $326,011 ($330,363); Chicago & Northwestern, $353,528 ($346,260); Burlington Northern, Inc., $438,488 ($449,732); Gulf, Mobile & Ohio, $1,348,747 ($1,309,448); Illinois Central, $798,628 ($791,256); Illinois Terminal, $2,355,328 ($2,266,658); Peoria & Central (NYC), $1,907,746 ($1,957,592); Penn Central (Penn), $1,287,348 ($1,314,915); Norfolk & Western, $1,611,915 ($1,651,004); Norfolk & Western (Wabash), $1,808,196 ($1,768,512); and Terminal Railroad Association, $2,842,081 ($2,728,300).

THIEF FROM AUTO

Two wheel lug nuts, valued at $22, were stolen from the parked car of Leonard Scarbro, 725 Lee Ave., Madison, at his home, Scarbro reported at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Aggravated Assault Charged After Fight

Merrill Raymond Huey, 33, of Chaffee, Mo., was charged with aggravated assault after he allegedly attempted to strike Madison Patrolman Edward Goclan with a hatchet and later with a board during a disturbance at Big Jenny's Little Place, 1112 State St., Madison, at 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Huey was injured during the disturbance when he allegedly put his fist through the window in the rear door of the tavern, causing a severe laceration to his right arm and damage to the muscles, officers said.

Police said they were called after Huey was reported in a fight with his former wife, Jenny Huey, owner of the tavern. Goclan said he took Huey outside, where a scuffle ensued. Huey broke loose and ran inside, returning with a hatchet, police alleged.

Goclan said he took the hatchet away from Huey, who reportedly broke away again and returned to the tavern; while opening the door, he is said to have injured his arm. Goclan took a board police took him to the city jail.

Later, Madison Chief of Police Frank Dutko reported he convinced Huey to return to a hospital. He was admitted.

HOUSE BURGLARIZED

The home of Wilma Jones, 2313 W. 24th St., was burglarized, the owner reported at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in the rear door and storm door. She did not know what had been taken.

CARS STOLEN AT GC HS

Two cars were stolen from parking lots at Granite City High School during school hours Tuesday. Taken were the cars of Jack Jones, 621 Ashland Ave., and Hugh O'Gara, 1094 Spring Ave.

DOG ON CHAIN SHOT

System Ready Soon for Constant Pollutant Check

Copley News Service
Springfield—Sometime in "the very near future," Illinois will have a 15-station master system providing round-the-clock, automatic readings every 20 minutes on a wide variety of air pollutants.

Ed Wilson, manager of the performance measurement section in the air pollution control division of the state Environmental Protection Agency, said a target date of Feb. 1 had been set for having the system on line, but that because of the complexity and sophistication of some of the equipment, several mechanical problems had arisen and are still being corrected.

When the system is operational, Wilson said, it will have two major benefits not now available in the manual monitoring stations which had been the state's sole monitoring system until now.

The new system will provide immediate data, he said, and in case of air pollution "episodes," it will be possible to instruct each of the automatic sensing devices to check for any particular pollutant in its area and send back immediate readings on levels in that vicinity.

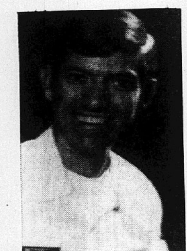

Royal Rangers Plan Paper Drive Saturday

The Royal Rangers of Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church, 25th Street and Ohio Avenue, will conduct a paper drive Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m.

The youths will pick up paper in West Granite, an area between Center Street and Washington Avenue, East Granite and in the area behind Belmore Village Shopping Center. Donald Stewart, senior commander, said residents have been asked to place scrap papers in plain view of the street, preferably along the curbs. He asked that magazines not be included.

Residents of areas other than those in which collections will be made may bring papers to the church where boys will be on hand to handle the papers and load them in a truck.

Those who cannot take their papers may call 876-1876 or 877-4664 for pickup service. Stewart said the Rangers plan to conduct three or four such drives each year. Returnable soda bottles also will be accepted.

One extra advantage of the system, he said, will be that fewer people will be required, and data will be compiled constantly and available instantly, which is not possible when operations must be done manually.

Information compiled by the automatic monitoring stations will be recorded as it comes in on magnetic tape and this tape will, each month, be fed through a computer to provide monthly readings and averages which will be studied here, and providing supplementary data which is "slower but still valuable."

sent to federal air pollution authorities for inclusion in the huge federal data bank in North Carolina.

Wilson said the 15 stations which will make up the master system now have all been in operation previously as manual stations, and are merely being converted to the new, automatic process.

Gideons Schedule State Meet in May

The Granite City Camp of the Gideons International distributed more than 1,000 Bibles and testaments during 1972. It was reported at a dinner meeting at which plans also were discussed for a state cabinet conference to be held in Alton May 18, 19 and 20.

Scriptures distributed by the local camp last year were purchased with contributions from local churches and were placed in motels, hospital, nursing homes and schools, according to camp leaders.

The Granite City camp is made up of 23 business and professional men and their wives who form the Gideon Auxiliary. Information about the Gideon ministry may be obtained from Charles N. Staveland at 877-3132, or C. F. Reimers at 877-0238.

Nameoki Residents Favor Trash Collection; Police Protection Also Is Urged

A survey of Nameoki Township residents on preferences for the use of revenue sharing funds showed primary interest in both additional police protection and in trash collection, Louis Whitsell, township supervisor, reported at a meeting of the Nameoki Town Board Monday night.

Ballots for the survey were printed in area newspapers, including the Press-Record, and residents were invited to mark their preferences on the ballots and to send them to the town hall. The deadline was Saturday.

Whitsell said the most votes, 101, were cast for environmental cleanup and trash collection, but additional police protection ranked a close second with 92 votes.

Improved streets received 26 votes and recreation facilities were checked on four ballots. Fifteen residents wrote in votes favoring sidewalks on Maryville Road to the new Granite City High School North.

One vote each was received for financial administration (a new township hall), health, library, social services for the poor and drainage.

Whitsell said several meetings with town auditors, citizens' committees and township officials will be held between now and the next regular town board meeting Feb. 26. At that time the township budget, including the proposed use of the revenue sharing funds, must be passed.

He said a budget hearing is planned for the end of March. The decision on how the revenue sharing funds will be spent will be made by the town auditors after cost estimates and plans for trash collection and police protection have been studied.

The township now has $44,239 in the revenue sharing fund and another check for about $30,000 is expected in March. The township's fiscal year begins March 1.

Whitsell also said that a surplus of $42,300 remaining in the town fund with only three weeks left in the fiscal year, he said at least $30,000 should remain which could be used in conjunction with the revenue sharing for trash collection or police protection.

A surplus of more than $125,000 exists in all other township accounts of which some are earmarked for special uses, but any left over may be devoted to the revenue sharing project.

Trash collection would cost about $70,000 per year if the township purchases two trash trucks and attempts to provide the service. Estimates from private hauling firms average $100,000 per year, Whitsell said.

"We would need two and possibly three trash trucks, costing about $16,000 each, if we are to do it ourselves but I think we can get some of these private haulers to submit lower bids," he suggested.

Whitsell said if the township does purchase the trucks, they would be financed for four years. At the end of that time, the cost of collection would drop to $30,000 or $60,000 per year until new trucks are needed, he said.

Plans also are being studied for Nameoki Beach to enlarge its police department and provide protection to the township in addition to the protection provided by the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

The cost of that proposal has been estimated at $35,000 per year plus the cost of financing at least two additional police cars which would be provided by the township if the plan is adopted.

Neither the Pontoon Beach Village Board nor the Nameoki Town Board has voted on the proposal. The figure of $35,000 per year was arrived at in a conversation earlier this year between Whitsell and John Cole, chairman of the police committee, of the Pontoon Beach Village Board.

Saunders Labels Proposed Airport Study 'Desperate'

Arven H. Saunders, chairman of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority which supports an Illinois site for a new major bi-state airport Tuesday called a plan by McDonnell Douglas Corp., St. Louis, for another airport site study, a final "desperate measure" by backers of a Missouri airport.

James S. McDonnell, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of McDonnell Douglas, offered Monday to arrange financing for another $1 million study of air needs by the McDonnell Aerospace Foundation with the support of Civic Progress, Inc., an organization of business and industry leaders.

Saunders' response to the offer follows:

"As President Nixon has said, you can't solve problems by throwing money at them. Why is McDonnell Douglas suddenly ready to throw a million tax-free dollars into another study when the federal government says no more studies are needed?"

"The merits of the recent airport study by an internationally recognized firm (Tippett-Abbott-McCarthy-Stratton) on top of countless other studies, must have been overwhelming to bring forth such an enormous sum."

"Is the offer a desperate effort to close out the game?"

Marriage Licenses Issued by County

Marriage licenses issued by the county clerk's office at Edwardsville included those of David A. Thebeau and Mary J. Weidner, and David A. Guardiola and Sherri L. Taylor, all of Madison.

Richard L. Wilkinson and Catherine L. Wilkinson; Danny W. Miller and Pamela K. Jarvis; David P. Bennett and Kimberly C. Walker, all of Granite City.

Robert M. Barnhart of Granite City and Shirley A. Johnson of Avondale, W. Va.; James L. Walters of Wood River and Sandra M. Ebling of Granite City.

CHARGED IN COMPLAINT
Louis Rigby, 45, of 2938 Morgan Ave., was arrested this week at his home on a charge of battery filed by Mary Rigby. He was released on $50 cash bail pending a hearing set Feb. 26.

Effimoffs to Aid Telethon Drive

Vasil Effimoff, director of Special Education for the Granite City School District, and his wife, Anita, a special education teacher, will take part in the 7th annual Variety Club Telethon "Crusade for Forgotten Children" Saturday night.

Last year's telethon raised more than $300,000 which was distributed to children's agencies serving emotionally and physically handicapped children here in the Greater St. Louis area. Granite City benefits by the use of the organizations supported by this charitable endeavor, Effimoff explained.

Following a formal dinner dance in the Khorassan Room at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel, Effimoff will appear on the TV telethon program to help receive pledges for the crusade.

The telethon will begin at 10 p.m. Saturday and continue through late Sunday afternoon on Channel 11.

Church Ladies

Conduct Shower

Mrs. Carol Brinker, wife of the Rev. Louis W. Brinker, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, was guest of honor at a cradle shower given by the ladies of the church.

The church's new fellowship hall, the scene of the shower, was decorated in green and yellow.

Crepes, paper streamers were suspended from the ceiling and were repeated down the center of the tables.

Small dolls in cradles completed the table decorations. Favors were replicas of pacifiers, made from candies.

A cradle decorated with green and yellow netting and satin bows centered the gift table.

Miss Donna Patterson, assisted by Misses Vickie Welty, Sharon Tidwell, and Cindy Childers, led games. Many prizes were awarded.

Following the opening of gifts by the honoree, refreshments were served to Mesdames Lenore Welty, Bonnie Tidwell, Eva Jacobs, Jerry Childers, Ruby Green, Margaret Woodward, Bernice Sharp, Maxine McGuire, Linda McIntire.

SIUE Graduate Wins Opera Auditions Here

Three young Illinois singers of $75, first; $50, second; and were selected in Metropolitan Opera auditions at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during the weekend to enter regional auditions in Chicago, Monday and Tuesday. Nineteen singers competed at SIUE.

First place winner was Linda Rolufs of St. Louis, a 1972 graduate of SIUE, and a pupil of Prof. Dale Moore. Miss Rolufs is assistant to the children's librarian at the St. Louis Public Library while continuing to study with Moore at SIUE.

Second place winner was Ann Marie Franzone of Arlington Heights, a student of Barbara Moore at Millikin University. Linda Hodge of Belleville, a student at SIU at Carbondale of the former Metropolitan Opera star, Marjorie Lawrence, won third place.

Cash awards in the amounts of $75, first; $50, second; and $25, third were given to the winners.

The awards were presented by Mrs. Maurice Dailey of Granite City, a past president of the SIUE Friends of Music, co-sponsors of the auditions with the SIUE music department at the Edwardsville campus.

Miss Hodge accepted for Miss Lawrence a facsimile of the first page of the original manuscript of Tili Eulenspiegel by Richard Strauss.

Miss Lawrence, who will retire at the end of the year as head of the Opera Workshop at SIUE, was unable to be present to accept the facsimile from the SIUE Friends of Music as an expression of appreciation for her help on the Met auditions at Edwardsville for the past three years.

Bi-State Rejects Move to Cancel Transit Contract

The Transit Services Corp. which operates public transportation facilities—Bi-State Transit System—in the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area, will continue in operation, at least for the time being, by the grace of one vote on the Bi-State Development Agency board of commissioners.

In a special meeting Monday, seven of the 10 commissioners voted in favor of a resolution calling for termination of the TSC contract, but the resolution failed to pass because of board rules requiring such measures to be approved by the commissioners of both states.

All five of the Illinois commissioners voted in favor of the resolution, but only two of the Missouri representatives approved the measure. Commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency are appointed by the governors of both states.

Rejection of the resolution was protested by a group of about a dozen leaders of black activists groups on both sides of the river who announced after the meeting that they will "make it difficult" for Bi-State to operate buses.

Illinois members voting to discontinue with TSC were Edward J. Delmore, president of the agency board, Eugene R. Burnett, Ralph B. Jackson, Roy J. May and Ralph M. Walker. Missouri members who voted to terminate the contract were Morton R. Bearman, commission vice-president, and I. Owen Funderburg.

Elliott, Luchini Head Pontoon Heart Drive

The American Heart Association is conducting its annual Heart Fund drive in this area to aid in the defense against heart disease.

Thomas Elliott, 16 East Gate Drive, Pontoon Beach, has been appointed village chairman of the drive and William Luchini has been appointed co-chairman of special events.

The village chairman is responsible for conducting a complete campaign in his community and for its door to door and residential solicitation, climaxing on "Heart Sunday," Feb. 25.

"Because of the work involved, solicitors should begin work as early as two weeks before "Heart Sunday," Elliott said.

Luchini has planned a "balloon sale" at the Gaslight Plaza shopping center beginning Sunday. Luchini said that a circus clown will be a feature attraction of the special event.

Plan to Drop Water Table at Dobrey Urged

A suggestion that a well be dug and pumped by the levee district to lower the water table in the Dobrey Slough area was endorsed Monday night by the Nameoki Town Board.

The plan was suggested in a letter by Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell to Romel Wilson, president of the old East Side Levee and Sanitary District which has continued operating pending a Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of legislation dividing that district along county lines.

Whitsell also enclosed a letter from William Schoeddy, township attorney, indicating that, in his opinion it would be illegal for the township to expend money for drainage and that drainage problems were the responsibility of the levee districts.

Whitsell complimented the old district for pumping it has been doing in the area.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a member of a citizens' group formed to obtain drainage of the Dobrey Slough area, showed the board several reports she has obtained from Dobrey Slough area residents who are within the city limits of Granite City.

The reports showed about $50,000 damage has been done to homes in the city by the high water table.

Whitsell appointed the three township auditors to a committee to study salaries for the clerk, township collector, assessor and auditors at the next term. The salaries must be approved next month.

The supervisor and Douglas Teator, town clerk, announced they are organizing a citizens' committee to assist the board in preparing the township budget for the fiscal year which begins March 1. A meeting of the group and any interested residents is to be scheduled for next week, Teator said.

Whitsell reported that engineering on the four-township sanitary sewer project will be completed next month and federal funding for the project is expected in the near future.

Albert Bell, highway commissioner, said he has met with the Madison County superintendent in preparing the township to repair a section of Arlington Road entering Arlington Heights. A new section of pavement is to be added, eliminating a hazard to traffic that exists at that point, Bell said.

Marathon Run from SIUE Set on Weekend

Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity at the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University will lead the third year stage a marathon run from the campus to the Capitol at Springfield to publicize February as Heart Month, declared by an Act of Congress and proclaimed by Gov. Daniel Walker.

Thirty-four runners will take part in the marathon, Saturday and Sunday, running 99 1/2 miles through Madison, Macoupin and Sangamon counties, with a side trip to Litchfield in Montgomery County.

At Springfield, the last torch bearer will hand his torch to a representative of the governor on the east steps of the Capitol, who will ignite a torch already in place on the Capitol steps. Other local dignitaries and Heart volunteers are expected.

Communities through which the runners will pass before reaching Springfield are Hamel, Stanton, Savoyville, Benld, Gillespie, Litchfield, Carlinville, Girard, Virden, Thayer, Auburn, Chatham and Jerome.

A welcoming group of volunteers is expected to be on hand. The youths will spend Saturday night in Carlinville.

Preceding the runners will be a balloon sale for the Heart Fund in each community. The money will be used to fight diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

The runners, who will run a mile in each relay carrying the torch, will be escorted by a pace car and police. They will spend Sunday night in Springfield and hold a celebration party.

The runners are expected to arrive at the Capitol at 4:47 p.m. Sunday.

Judge Greenwood to Remain on Bench

CLASS TO 'ADOPT' AGED
GRACE CHURCH MEMBERS
The Winsome Class of Grace Baptist Church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs.
Faye Hester, 64 Karen Drive.
Mrs. Carol Fritz, president, led the business meeting, during which it was decided that the class will furnish meals to church members just returning home from the hospital.
It was decided that each class member will "adopt" an elderly church member for the purpose of transporting him or her to and from church, if necessary, and to remember the individual on birthdays and special holidays.

The possibility of having a St. Patrick's Day dinner for the "adopted group" at the church was discussed.
Following the business portion, games were played, prizes being awarded to Mrs.
Carolyn Roach, Mrs. Martha
Hester and Mrs. Fran Tinley.
Refreshments were served to those mentioned and Mrs. Sandra Brown, Mrs. Margaret Mayes, Mrs. Estelle Boatman,
Mrs. Gloria Joyce and the hostess's daughter, Amy Hester.

ANNOUNCE FOURTH CHILD
Announcement of the birth of a daughter is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Edwards,
18 Jeanette Drive.

The child, who has been named Tracy Lynn, was born Jan. 17 at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She weighed nine pounds, 13 ounces.

The Edwards have three other children, Sandra Lee, eight, Diana Marie, six, and Joseph Austin, three.

Tax Filing Deadline For Part of Farmers

Illinois farmers and fishermen who did not file a declaration of estimated federal individual income tax by Jan. 15, may have a tax deadline of March 1.

Leon C. Green, district director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, said that if a taxpayer earned at least two-thirds of his 1972 gross income from farming or fishing, but did not file an estimate by Jan. 15, he must file the 1972 federal income tax return and pay any tax due by Thursday, March 1, to avoid penalty for underpayment of estimated tax.

Governor May Be Adroit Enough to Accept A Tax Increase But Not the Blame for It

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield—There is a growing feeling beneath the Statehouse dome that the Democratic Gov. Dan Walker is outfoxing the Republican old hands.

Calvo Named to Cities, Villages House Committee

State Rep. Horace L. Calvo, (D-Granite City), announced this week that he has been appointed to the Cities and Villages and Agriculture and Natural Resources committees of the House of Representatives for the 78th General Assembly.

Rep. Calvo will have the additional duty and honor of serving in a leadership position on the Cities and Villages committee. He will be serving as spokesman for the Democratic members of the committee.

"I am proud to announce these committee assignments," Rep. Calvo said. "They will give me the opportunity to best serve the interests of our district."

House Democratic Leader Clyde L. Choate had this comment on Rep. Calvo's committee assignments: "Rep. Calvo received his assignments on the basis of interest and expertise, taking into account the needs of the people of the 58th District."

"He is an outstanding member of the General Assembly and will make a great contribution to the work of his committees."

"I was glad to reward Representative Calvo's past efforts and diligent attention to duty by naming him to a position of leadership on the Cities and Villages Committee."

Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie out of office after one term.

It is virtually taken for granted at the Capitol that some time during his four years Walker is going to have to ask for an increase in taxes.

But the way things are beginning to take shape, he may well wind up having the Republican legislators do it for him.

Even if he is not that shrewd or lucky, Gov. Walker—when the time comes—will be able to sell himself to the Illinois voters as a governor who was forced by conditions and the opposition party to do something he was reluctant to do.

Unlike Ogilvie, who initiated tax legislation shortly after taking office in 1969, Walker is going to let the tax problem come to him and by a circuitous route. That way, he may avoid any blame.

By the most conservative Statehouse reckoning, he has a full year of grace thanks to the Ogilvie income tax, federal revenue sharing and a booming national economy that has been lightening the massive welfare load.

But sooner or later the ever-rising demands of education and the steadily increasing trend toward broader government services for the electorate in general—coupled with the normal, if not accelerating, rate of inflation—may make tax increases necessary.

Walker himself at his recent news conference hedged slightly on the tax issue. He has ruled out any increase the first year at least, but has conventionally left the door open for the latter half of his administration.

Meanwhile, he is letting the Republicans carry the tax ball. More than a few GOP legislators were mildly unhappy when new Republican Senate Leader William C. Harris of Pontiac, in his customary way, told newsmen that Illinois probably cannot get through the next four years without a tax increase.

They would just as soon have the Democrats raise the subject first. Democrats are quietly pleased that Harris will be presiding at four hearings into possible tax relief at various locations in the state over the next few weeks.

He will do so as chairman of the Illinois Economic and Fiscal Commission.

The Commission's primary purpose is to search for ways for providing relief from the temporary relief from the property tax burden. But in doing this the group will also be publicly exploring ways to replace property tax revenue that will be lost—and this could easily translate into new or increased state taxes.

In the meantime, Gov. Walker can concentrate on his economy moves.

When a tax increase eventually does become unavoidable, he can picture himself to the voters as accepting the inevitable.

Statehouse Republicans now say this is what Ogilvie should have done four years ago.

At the same time, they are increasingly respecting the political shrewdness of Dan Walker, who won the governorship by portraying himself as an anti-politician.

Four members of the music faculty at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will present a program of chamber music at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Lenoir Library auditorium. The public is invited, admission free.

Participants include Kent Perry, violin; Robert Schieber, viola; Joseph Pival, violoncello; and Linda Perry, piano. The program will include Divertimento in E-flat Major, K. 563, by Mozart and Trio in C Major, Opus 87, by Brahms.

'Thinking Day' for Area Girl Scouts Set Feb. 25

"Thinking Day," an annual observance of Girl Scouts throughout the world who join together in thoughts and prayer in the spirit of scouting on that day, will take place from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 25, at the Venice Grade School on Broadway, Venice, according to Mrs. Vee Throne, general chairman.

All Girl Scouts in District IV of the River Bluffs Council are expected to attend the special program.

February is set aside each year for Girl Scouts and Girl Guides to observe "International Month," with one specific day designated when scouts convene for "Thinking Day," Mrs. Throne explained.

Fifty countries around the world participate in the observance in honor of the birthdays of Lord and Lady Baden Powell, founders of the scouting movement.

Hosting the annual event this year will be leaders of Neighborhood 1, under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver, neighborhood chairman.

Between 1,000 and 1,500 Girl Scouts probably will attend the Feb. 25 program. About 2,000 Girl Scouts presently are registered in District IV.

Plans for the afternoon include an opening flag ceremony presented by Cadet and Senior scouts, followed by the invocation by the Rev. John O'Connell, pastor of St. Mark's Catholic Church, Venice.

The Rev. Ellis B. Seals, pastor of Bethel AME Church in Venice, will deliver the benediction.

Mrs. Diana Hessel, District IV chairman, will speak on the subject of "Thinking Day," explaining the objectives and purpose of the affair.

Boy Scout Troop One of Venice will assist visitors in parking, and members of Explorer Post 104 of Madison are to serve as ushers, Mrs. Throne said.

The program calls for each neighborhood to represent a specific country, the chairman reported. Troop members will dress in traditional costumes and will sing, dance or present skits pertaining to the country the neighborhood group has selected, she explained.

Neighborhood 1 scouts, representing Switzerland, will be directed by Mrs. Tolliver.

Other neighborhood assignments and the leader in charge, are:

Neighborhood 2, Germany and Greece, led by Mrs. Doris Waddell; Neighborhood 3, the Philippines and Hawaii, with Mrs. Doris Stotz in charge; Neighborhood 4, Israel, directed by Miss Carolyn Votaw; Neighborhood 5, Mexico, with Mrs. Wilma McQuinn; and Neighborhood 7, Italy, led by Mrs. Jo Ann Artimisi.

Neighborhood 6, whose chairman is Mrs. Kay Dietrich, also will participate in the flag ceremony.

Children, Family Services Hoping To Emphasize Needs of Each Child

By FRAN BERNARD
Copy News Service
Springfield, Ill.

Dr. Jerome G. Miller of Boston, Mass., has been appointed director of Children and Family Services in Illinois for a very good reason.

He is deeply committed to helping children in trouble.

His record as commissioner of the Department of Youth Services in Massachusetts has received national attention and approval.

Dr. Miller was teaching sociology at Ohio State University in 1969 when he was contacted by a search committee from the legislature of Massachusetts and asked to take on a major assignment. Legislators wanted the century-old child care system there completely reorganized.

He closed the six state-run reform schools and put in a community-based program that placed children in foster homes, group homes and small private institutions. He was midway through his term in office when he was contacted by representatives of Gov. Dan Walker, suggesting he come to Illinois.

"I had fought all the battles and won," Dr. Miller said. "It was time to claim the fruits. I had two more years to serve, and had a number of offers to write. But one has to do what one has to do."

Gov. Walker wants to make Children and Family Services more responsive to children.

Apparently Dr. Miller couldn't resist the challenge.

In Illinois, there are approximately 26,000 children under the care of Children and Family Services.

They are dependent, neglected, sometimes emotionally disturbed, and often abused.

"We don't have an unlimited budget, so we have to set priorities," Dr. Miller said. "Our major priority will be the battered babies, the abused children."

Last year in Illinois there were 800 cases of battered and beaten children. There were over 30 deaths. Already this year there has been one death and one near death, a little girl with a fractured skull.

"That's got to stop," Miller said. "Most of these children are three years old or younger. They are not verbalizing their rights. This agency will be their advocate."

He plans to concentrate mainly on offering help and training for the youngsters, and on providing better investigation into these cases.

Very often there is lack of coordination between the hospital, the police and the agency, he said; proper reports are not made out and the material is not well put together.

Also, many times the parents need help. Often they themselves were battered children. But, Dr. Miller emphasized, the child comes first.

"I lean toward removal of the child first, while we make sure this isn't going to recur. Some battered babies are not killed until the second or third beating."

"We're playing Russian roulette with the lives of these youngsters, otherwise."

There are over 3,000 persons employed by Children and Family Services in 46 offices throughout the state.

The agency funds a large number of day care centers, foster homes and private institutions.

However, 780 children are placed in out-of-state institutions, with over 500 in Texas. Illinois spends over $5,000,000 in other states for this care.

Dr. Miller would rather see the communities care for their own needy children.

He believes in using volunteers extensively and has had considerable success in that area.

Historical Items at County Museum Shower Honors

Miss Katherine Morehead, librarian of the Madison County Historical Museum, spoke at a meeting of the Friends of the Museum, outlining the historical material now available at the museum, concerning Illinois and Madison County.

Miss Morehead explained that the main library on the second floor is now completed and the books most used are shelved and catalogued there. Material is stored on the third floor.

The library now has a copy machine and micro-reader with bins to assist in research, Miss Morehead said.

There are some very old books too fragile for circulation, several Bibles of long ago and many other rare books on different aspects of history, she added, together with an adequate collection of Indian material.

Requests come to the library for information on various subjects from different parts of the country, the librarian noted, as well as locally. The library has answered requests for information on genealogies, plus material to be used by authors.

Mrs. Eleanor Kreuter presented the second segment of the program, discussing the origin and history of Valentines. She described early designs and designers of German, English, French and American Valentines and displayed reproductions of various cards to illustrate her talk.

Scrapbooks, diaries, ledgers and personal letters furnish much material for reference work, Miss Morehead said. The scrapbooks contain clippings, principally of social events, and reflect current customs of their specific era. Manuscripts of various kinds, often historical society talks, bound copies of old newspapers and pictures also are on file. She added more pictures would be welcome from donors.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Calliotte of Granite City, and the prospective groom is the son of Harry Warfield of Highland and the late Mrs. Clara Warfield.

Refreshments were served and a cake, prepared by Mrs. Beckett, was decorated with doll figurines.

The company is seeking a deadline of April 25, 1974, for completion of coke oven improvements and a deadline of Sept. 15, 1973, for completion of pollution control equipment for the sinter process, main windbox and pug mill. A hearing on the request is to be scheduled.

Common Errors Mean Delays in III. Tax Refunds

Avoiding common errors in filing state tax returns will mean early refunds for many Illinois taxpayers.

The Illinois Department of Revenue advises there are eight errors commonly made by taxpayers and tax practitioners.

Taxpayers should guard against these errors:

Required attachments not enclosed (usually the W-2).

"Refund" and "Balance Due" lines interchanged.

Errors in addition and subtraction.

Checks made out to other than the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Practitioners should especially watch out for three common errors:

Errors in addition and subtraction.

Returns sent in mathematically correct but have no signatures (a signature is required to make the return valid).

Information for one return typed or printed on another taxpayer's form.

Illinois taxpayers who have questions about filing their current state tax returns can get answers quickly from revenue department experts. Illinois residents outside of Cook County may call toll-free 800-972-1630.

$4 Million Condominium, Street Project Halted

Plans for construction of a $4 million condominium complex south of the Granite City Village Apartments on Village Lane have come to an end and the present apartments have changed hands, it was reported this week.

Ralph Harris, 2 Bradley Lane, developer of the proposed condominium complex, disclosed that he has backed out of the project and the 70 acres of land south of the present apartments, as well as the apartments, have been returned to Charles Kahn of St. Louis, the former owner.

Harris said he paid $1,500,000 for the land and the present apartments. He said most of the money was returned to him when he returned the titles to Kahn.

The 272 family condominium units were to be constructed south of the present apartments on a site that now includes a drainage pond.

Harris, owner of a construction company, had begun to fill the pond when work was halted Feb. 1. Harris also was to have connected the two existing portions of Village Lane with the road he was to have financing difficulties. This view south of the present apartments shows work which was started to extend the road. The apartments were to have been built at the right.

Percy Viewed as Solid Presidential Contender built in front of the condominiums.

It is unknown if Kahn plans to continue work on the project which Harris started.

Harris reported this week that he was forced to withdraw from the project when his financial backers raised the interest rate on the money he was to have borrowed.

He alleged that the Atlanta, Ga., investment company with which he had been negotiating raised its prime interest rate from 5 1/2% to 6 1/2% and planned to raise it further to 6 3/4% in the near future.

He also said the company raised the number of percentage points he was to pay above prime interest from 2% to 3%, so his cost on the loan would have been from 9 1/2% to 9 3/4%.

"When I originally planned the project, the interest was to have been 7 1/2%. When they raised the interest rate, it became economically unfeasible to continue, so I withdrew," Harris said.

He said his contract with Kahn contained a provision allowing him to withdraw in the event circumstances changed.

He contended the raise in the interest rates constituted enough of a change for him to utilize the option.

A question remains as to who will be responsible for restoring the land which has been torn up by bulldozers and which drainage pipe has been scattered. Kahn has been ill and unavailable for comment.

Springfield—Can Chuck Percy make it?

As Illinois Republicans converged on Springfield for the annual February tribute to Abraham Lincoln there was a growing consensus that U. S. Sen. Charles H. Percy has a good shot at the GOP nomination for President in 1976.

This attitude in itself as a boost for Percy's chances.

Some of his foes in Washington and elsewhere along the Eastern seaboard have been peddling the theory that he can't be a serious contender because he has intra-party troubles in his home state.

But at the Statehouse this is considered nonsense.

It may be true that Percy's moderate, occasionally liberal positions on some issues, sometimes irritate more conservative Republicans. But this is not serious enough to constitute any so-called "ideological rift."

What is more important as far as any long-range effort to win the Republican nomination is concerned, is Percy's strong base of home-state political support.

His relations with grassroots GOP workers have never been better.

Through his well-managed Springfield office, Percy keeps in close personal touch with Downstate county chairmen. He telephones them on special occasions and sometimes just to sound out their views on various matters.

It may not neglect the Illinois speaking circuit, and his friendly approaches to the man-on-the-street have attracted widespread attention.

Flood Fight Exercise by Engineers Opens Tuesday

A flood fight exercise will be held Tuesday and Wednesday along the Mississippi River north of St. Louis to New Orleans.

The exercise will be directed by the Lower Mississippi Valley Division (LMVD) Corps of Engineers, headquartered in Vicksburg.

The program is designed to test the capability of the Corps to cope with simulated flood conditions and to train new staff members on the procedures used in emergency situations.

Major General C. C. Noble, who is both division engineer and president of the Mississippi River Commission, noted that the exercise is being held following a period of unusually high stages.

"During the month of December," he noted, "the mean stage at St. Louis was 5 feet higher than normal. At Cairo, the mean stage was higher than during the December, preceding the 1927 and 1937 floods."

For the exercise a team of St. Louis District engineers has developed a fictitious schedule of the presumed build up of flood conditions for areas along the Illinois River, the Mississippi River at Elsberry, East St. Louis, St. Louis and Cape Girardeau and for the Kaskaskia River.

In Phase One, engineers in each area and sector engineers will be given the specific flood condition problem for their assigned region.

Each must then plan for the necessary steps to be taken in his area or sector. This preparation may include plans for evacuating low-lying agricultural areas, selection of road block locations, determination of needed assistance such as National Guard, Civil Defense, Red Cross, etc., and the required supplies like sandbags, lumber and construction equipment.

At the second phase of the flood fight test, further problems are devised to complicate the picture and as possible the events that may occur during a serious flood; levees may fail or be topped by the flood, trees in the form of fires in urban areas or needed supplies may be lost. The teams must then take action to remedy these problems.

The simulated flood fight will involve about 100 members of St. Louis District Corps staff. Fifty to sixty will be in locations around the District, and another 20 will staff a central "flood fight center" in the St. Louis District office.

The control center contains all of the required maps, charts and communications network required for the flood fight exercise. At each spot "umpires" are present to grade and make judgment on the effectiveness of the controls.

During the exercise, staffs at LMVD headquarters and at district offices in St. Louis, Memphis, Vicksburg, and New Orleans will be working together to control the "campaing river."

"We will be doing just about everything except sending work crews to the river," General Noble comments. "We hope to have local levee boards and other agencies actively participating to further develop our teamwork. It's been more than 20 years since we have had a major flood on the lower Mississippi River, and we have to be sure we are ready for the next one."

The exercise is part of the regular program for training and testing in the St. Louis District and is held once every two years. Major Peter Groh, Deputy District Engineer, stressed the importance of the program.

Advances in preparation for actual flood situations. Major Groh, who will take part in the practice, pointed out, "Our requirements are a rigid simulation of flood conditions that may occur at any time within our District. The program is designed to be as close as possible to actual reality and provide a depth of experience for our personnel."

He may not neglect the Illinois speaking circuit, and his friendly approaches to the man-on-the-street have attracted widespread attention.

At the Statehouse, political professionals say the greatest tribute to Percy's political ability is being paid him by his Democratic colleague in the Senate, Adlai E. Stevenson III.

Stevenson, who expects a tough race for re-election in 1976, has copied the Percy operation almost in toto.

Percy's million-plus plurality in the 1972 election gives him a popularity rating that no realistic politician can ignore. The party leadership is certain to depend on him substantially in next year's election campaign, considered an uphill struggle against Stevenson and Democratic State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon.

In Springfield, it is generally agreed that the only person who could hamper any Percy Presidential effort in Illinois is Atty. Gen. William J. Scott.

However, there is about as much chance of Scott doing that as there is of him campaigning for Adlai Stevenson.

Scott, also a massive winner for re-election last year, is believed to be concentrating on a shot for governor in 1976.

Already, Statehouse Dome predictions are freely heard, from Democrats as well as Republicans, that Scott willoust Democrat Gov. Dan Walker four years hence.

Having followed Illinoisan Percy at the top for two years, it would be an obvious advantage in what would without question be a hard-fought race for governor.

Events far beyond Illinois will decide the future destiny of amce Percy.

But when the cards are dealt for the big game at the National Convention, he will be playing a strong hand.

Patronage Evils Ended-Governor

Gov. Dan Walker sees his executive order relating to patronage as a fulfillment of a campaign pledge.

The three key elements in the order are:

1. "No employee shall ask or require any other employee to do political work."
2. "No employee shall ask or require any other employee to make a political contribution."
3. "All positions will be filled on the basis of merit by the responsible state officials."

In the preamble, Gov. Walker said:

"For too many years, state employees have been subject to pressures to make political contributions and do political work. This system is wrong."

"At the same time, government employees—like all citizens—have a constitutional right to voluntarily engage in political activity. To prevent the wrong and protect the right, I hereby issue this order."

The directive says that "nothing in this order shall be interpreted to abridge the constitutional right of any citizen to voluntarily participate in the political process."

At a news conference in Chicago announcing the order, Gov. Walker added:

"I pledged repeatedly throughout my campaign to put an end to the abuses and evils of the patronage system."

"I thought then and believe now that pressuring public employees to work for a particular candidate, or contribute money to a political candidate as a condition of employment was wrong."

"I made the point that there would be no mass political firings. There have not been. There will not be."

"We have cut the payroll, and we will cut more as the part of an overall belt-tightening that will be reflected in budget bills."

"And I also made the point that a hiring will be done by government, not the political apparatus of a party."

"We welcome recommendations from civic leaders and organizations, individuals and political leaders."

"But the final decision on hiring and firing will be on the basis of merit and will be in the hands of government officials."

Proposed Waterway Fees Seen as Disrupting Nation

A spokesman for The American Waterways Operators, Inc., appeared before the National Water Commission during the weekend to express the "grave concern of water carriers and allied businesses, including shippers, over a review draft of the proposed report of the National Water Commission."

In testimony at a public hearing on the proposed report, Braxton B. Carr, AWO, said, "A more intricate plan for dismantling and bringing to a halt the development of water resource projects and inland water transportation could not have been devised."

Furthermore, he said, "the logistics of administering it appear staggering. The cost of the bureaucratic supervisory system alone would probably exceed any purported savings to the nation that these recommendations are supposed to achieve."

The proposed report, among other things, recommends the imposition of a new fee on domestic water carriers through the collection of fuel taxes and lockage fees, and the concept of requiring immediate and direct beneficiaries to pay for water resource projects.

The National Water Commission was created by Public Law 90-315, which was approved Sept. 29, 1968, to study and make recommendations to the President and Congress as to future water policy.

The agency's 1,127-page draft report has been the subject of a series of public hearings at various cities throughout the nation, of which the Washington hearing was the last.

The AWO spokesman, in his testimony, said the Commission's draft report, at least with respect to navigation and user charges, "basically restates old proposals which have been rejected in the past by administrations and Congress because of the disruptive effect they would have on the water transportation industry and related industries and communities whose existence and economy are highly dependent on low-cost water transportation."

"The Commission's report fails to consider the hard-nosed, dollars and cents daily operations of the waterways transportation industry and its companies."

petitors, and fails to discuss the effect on mounting inflation and already high consumer costs that would result from the imposition of user charges on domestic water transportation."

The Commission's draft report recommends that local interests finance the development of new waterways.

The AWO spokesman said any effort to collect a 100% user charge for such financing from domestic water carriers would destroy commercial transportation on the waterways.

"Imposition of user charges would cause the initial loss, we estimate, of between 20% and 40% of the long-haul waterway traffic, leaving the federal government to collect user fees from a vastly shrunken traffic base."

"Since federal waterway costs are almost 100% fixed, a higher user charge would have to be levied on the remaining traffic. The effect would be to eliminate still more tonnage."

"Eventually, the taxpayer would be stuck with the burden of unused, non-productive public works facilities representing a high capital investment of the nation."

"The recommendation that lockage fee user charges for individual waterways reflect the cost of using them would have a similar effect."

"These waterways fees would lose traffic the fastest. As long-haul tonnage from the tributaries diminished, long-haul tonnage on the mainstems would diminish."

"Not only would revenue from user charges diminish as lockage fees would have to be increased and tonnage was driven from the waterways, but fuel would be consumed and the revenue from the fuel tax user charge would also drop heavily."

The recommendation that the federal government lend construction money for waterway projects only on condition that non-federal entities—such as communities, states, and other regional organizations—guarantee in advance to pay back full costs plus interest in a specified time period, "we believe would result in the virtual termination of all major domestic waterway navigation projects," the AWO spokesman said.

"Waterway benefits accrue to the national public welfare generally; benefits to a particular locality or region are limited to warrant more than partial funding by local or state taxpayers."

"Furthermore, any belief that widespread agreement could be obtained with respect that widespread agreement to organizing, planning and cost sharing among dozens of regions or states and hundreds of far-flung communities which might benefit from a project is highly impractical."

Among the Commission's recommendations is one that reports on federal waterway projects estimate the true economic cost to the nation of providing the contemplated transportation service, and make a comparison with the true economic cost of providing the service by the least cost alternative means.

"This recommendation," Carr said, "is unclear as to exactly what specific inputs would constitute 'true economic cost.'"

"Secondly, not all modes of transportation, for very practical reasons, use the same costing systems. Therefore, accurate comparisons are difficult, if not impossible."

"We object to a conclusion in the Commission's report dictating savings realized by shippers as benefits where waterways are developed in competition with railroads."

"With respect to low flow augmentation, we believe there would be great difficulties in attempting to determine who would benefit and how much, and the near impossibility of apportioning costs for such a benefit."

The AWO president expressed fear that the nation's foreign trade would suffer from imposition of user charges on the domestic water transportation industry. He said movement of commerce to ports for export would be impeded and that American goods would be less competitive abroad.

Also, he predicted that the economies that LASH and SEABEE vessels and Miniships are designed to achieve would be destroyed.

The AWO spokesman also raised the question of how the user charges would be imposed upon both U. S. and foreign flag ocean-going tonnage to pay for ocean harbor, port and channel public works projects.

He questioned the wisdom of imposing a user charge on domestic water transportation at the moment when this nation appears to be facing an energy problem.

The best productivity per gallon of fuel, he said, is provided by barge transportation, which requires 3.15 gallons to move a thousand ton-miles of freight.

Finally, the AWO spokesman said, "the most unfortunate consequences that would result from implementation of the Commission's recommendation to impose user charges would be unemployment, not only in the transportation industry, but in all water dependent industries and businesses."

"The Commission has not set forth in the report what effect its recommendations would have on unemployment and inflation."

"Increased water transportation costs and increased costs of other transportation modes would serve only to send up the cost of goods and decrease consumer purchasing power. Loss of jobs would further aggravate the problem."

"The Commission recommends no concurrent reduction in income taxes to accompany its 'economy' recommendations imposing user charges. The consumer-taxpayer would not benefit from these recommendations."

Two Suspects Caught After House Burglary

David White, 2040r Grand Ave., reported early this week that when he returned home from work, he heard an upstairs door open and a man say "How do we get out of here?"

White said he went around the house and saw two men standing on the porch, with one appearing to point a gun at him. The victim said he ran, heading for the police station. He stopped a passing patrol car which then stopped a speeding auto.

Two occupants of the auto were taken into custody as burglary suspects. They were not immediately charged.

Police found that the house was ransacked, a portable television set valued at $119 was missing and other items were placed near the door.

George Lindsey Hosts Local Arrow Officers

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Movie and TV star George Lindsey and the Swiss Villa Resort, a division of George Lindsey International, played host to officers and advisors of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, during the weekend of National Boy Scout Week, at their facilities on Table Rock Lake at Lampe, Mo.

Leonard R. Kuebler, a former Granite City resident who as a youth was active in Boy Scouts and the Arrow, is now executive vice-president of George Lindsey International. He made the arrangements with "Goobers" for the Scouts.

Nestled in the heart of the scenic Ozark Mountains, Swiss Villa Resort is one of the most charming vacation areas in the nation.

The young men made their home away from home in the personal luxury cedar chalet of actor Lindsey, for a three-day conference, complete with steaks furnished by the Granite City George Lindsey Family restaurant.

"Rap" sessions were held by the Arrowmen for promoting a high adventure program for older Scouts who are in the 14 and 15 age group.

It was felt that after three to four summers at Camp Sunnen, a youth of 15 lacks for a real adventurous challenge.

Working with the Council

Camping Committee and the group's advisor, Reg Mennerick, tentative plans were made to have an Arrow-sponsored trip to Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, N. M., during the summer of 1974.

Tentative plans also were made to hold a pancake and sausage breakfast to raise money to build a new campsite at Camp Sunnen this summer. Cost of a site is $1,500 and the Arrow officers figure to hold the event in late March.

Camp Sunnen presently has nine campsites and at least 12 are needed to handle the record attendance during the summer.

How the lodge could help improve scouting throughout the council also was discussed.

Part of an afternoon was spent in visiting historical landmarks and points of interest in the Table Rock lake areas of both Missouri and Arkansas.

Attending the conference were Mike Bilbrey, lodge chief; Jeff Tolliver, lodge secretary; and J. Richard Hooks, director of Camp Sunnen, all of Venice; Greg Durbin of Highland, treasurer; Brad Cowan, vice-chief; and Reg Mennerick, adult advisor, both of Granite City, and W. F. "Mick" Strange, Madison, council camping chairman.

The Order of the Arrow is the National Scout honor camping society of the Boy Scouts of America.

EXEMPLARY CITIZENSHIP AWARDS were presented to area young people for activities helping their individual Scout or Explorer unit, the local Boy Scout Council and the community in general. Left to right are Terry Toth, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 16; Stanley Manogian, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 99; Mike Bilbrey, president of Explorer Post 10-4; Brad Cowan, president of Post 6; Jeff Tolliver, Post 10-4, and Rita Byrne, Post 123, receiving her certificate from Dr. Thomas Layloff, activity chairman of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America. The presentation was made at the 23rd Scouter Appreciation dinner last week in Edwardsville.

Smoking Poster Contest Announced for Students

Madison County students in grades four through 12 have been invited to enter the sixth annual statewide smoking poster contest, according to Homer W. Davitz, president of Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. The contest is sponsored by Illinois TB & RD Association.

Students are encouraged to choose their own original theme related to smoking, purpose of which is to depict the advantages of non-smoking. Packets of materials for student guidance in selecting factual information have been sent to 142 Madison County school principals and poster announcements, listing contest rules and regulations, to 1157 classroom teachers.

Posters will be judged on originality, effectiveness of message, factuality and artistic value. Initial judging will be done by Lewis-Clark Association which serves Madison, Jersey and Cathoon Counties. Local winners will be submitted to Illinois association to determine state-wide winners. All entries become the property of the sponsoring organization and will not be returned. Winning posters will be reproduced and become education materials for use next year. Deadline for submitting posters to the local organization is 4:30 p.m., Thursday, March 1.

The three winning entries in each of the following grade categories: 4 through 6; 7 through 8; and 9 through 12, in Madison County will receive $5, $3, and $1, respectively. Each state winner will receive a $25 savings bond and each school represented by a winning student or students will receive $25, to be used in promoting health education programs.

71-Year-Old Freshman Student Earns All A's

George Gregory, a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, made all "A's" last quarter—not bad for a 71-year-old freshman.

Gregory, a resident of Litchfield and a retired railroad agent, first entered SIUE in the spring quarter of 1972. He is the oldest entering freshman to attend SIUE. Last quarter he received "A's" in all 11 hours of coursework.

"If I'd been taking 12 hours last quarter I would have made paper in the class," Maloney said.

Gregory is considering majoring in anthropology. He traveled extensively during 33 years with the Wabash and the Norfolk and Western railroads, and thinks his traveling should provide some interesting background in the field of anthropology.

From time to time, Gregory goes in to talk with D. W. Wilton, assistant to the director of Admissions at SIUE.

"He was apprehensive at first about going through the registration process and also about how he would react with the younger students, but he hasn't had any trouble adjusting, and is very energetic," Wilton said.

His first impression of the registration process was that "you move up a couple of lines and then somebody sends you back a line or two."

Now Gregory thinks registration's not bad, "once you get used to it."

Asked about his progress, Gregory said "why don't you ask me when I graduate?" With his determination he probably will, because as he puts it, "it's never too late."

Future Secretaries Fete Aged at Valentine Party

Crowning of a "Queen of Hearts", distribution of valentines with handkerchiefs enclosed, playing bingo and winning prizes all helped to make the party given for the residents of the Madison County Shelter Care at Edwardsville by members of the Granite City High School Future Secretaries Association a complete success on Saturday.

The party was planned by the civic committee headed by Angela Hull, under the supervision of faculty advisors Mrs. Judi Sparks and Miss Lucille Aramowicz.

Those who attended the party were FSA members Angie Hull, Randy Harper, Betty Legens, Diane Daugherty, Joanne Hamilton, Karen Richardson, Robin Scarborough, Barb Seibert and Cathy Butler. Mrs. Sparks accompanied the group.

Also participating were seven members of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association, who are the sponsors of the local FSA Chapter. They are Gerry Sharp, Lou Hemming, Sally Gracey, Peggy Moore, Mary Gail, Linda Firney and Charlie Vunovic.

Serving as master of ceremonies, and the caller of the bingo numbers, was Larry Sidener, president of Sidener Supply Co. and a past boss of the Year of the Tri-Cities Chapter.

The "Queen of Hearts" Mrs. Lydia Lamascus, will be 92 years old in May. She was crowned by William Barnhart who will be 91. The FSA and NSA members chose different tables during the bingo games and assisted the residents with finding numbers. Thirty prizes were awarded.

As a surprise to the FSA and NSA members, Mrs. Frances Polley, activity director at the shelter care home, announced at the conclusion of the party that the resident wanted to express their appreciation to the individuals for their thoughtfulness the past Christmas as well as on that occasion, and had made clown favors filled with candy hearts for each of them.

In addition, they had arranged for punch, cake and cookies to be served, with the NSA and FSA members leading the buffet line.

The residents had been assigned to different committees for the event, and at the end of the party, the visitors joined in helping the clean-up committee get rid of the debris and return the room to its normal state, bringing the afternoon to a happy conclusion.

At the last chapter meeting, Janet Lambert, a charter FSA member who is now a student at Belleville Area College, returned to GCHS to be one of the speakers at the FSA meeting last Tuesday.

Her topic was "Advantages of Further Education." After High School Graduation." Also speaking on the subject were Dr. Jane Manwaring of Belleville Area College and Cathy Brown, another June '71 graduate of GCHS.

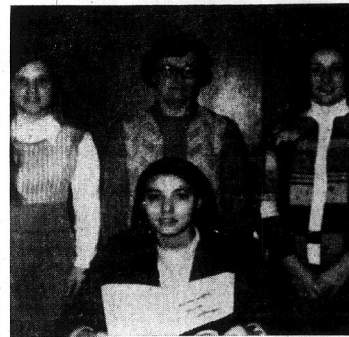

The speakers stressed the points that students who did not especially like shorthand during high school would find that taking the same courses at the college would be enjoyable due to the different classroom atmosphere, which is designed to be more like that found in an office.

After a two-year course, a student graduates with a secretarial associate degree. The tuition cost for the two years is $600, and a program is available where students can work at the college to earn money for tuition while attending classes. State college scholarships can be used at the junior college.

Advantages for attending the Belleville College, as described by the two students, other than the low tuition cost, included the close location and the lesser time involved in obtaining a degree. They added that such activities as sports and chorus are also available at the college. Miss Lambert is a member of the chorus.

At the conclusion of the presentation and demonstration of office type equipment, there was an indication of about 10 of the members that they would be interested in attending the college.

Kathy Williams, president of the FSA Chapter, conducted the meeting and called for reports from recording secretary Shannon Marmion and treasurer Donna Lindner.

Girls were reminded to turn in their points in competition for the Miss FSA title which will be awarded, along with a gift of $50, at the NSA meeting in May to be held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Faculty advisors Judi Sparks and Lucille Aramowicz announced that only six of the sixty-two members had been dropped from FSA membership due to a failing grade in a business subject. This is a marked decrease from the experience during the chapter's first year of organization.

Representing the Tri-Cities chapter at the meeting was Mrs. Gerry Sharp.

Four New Loan Funds Established at SIUE

Four new loan funds have been established at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville through the SIUE Foundation.

According to Charles Schweitzer, associate director of the foundation, more than $600 has been received for the Russell D. Wolfe Loan Fund, established by the 1973 senior class of Edwardsville High School in honor of a classmate killed this year in a car accident. The fund will be used to assist graduates of EHS who wish to attend SIUE.

Donald L. Hastings Jr. of Edwardsville is sponsor of a loan fund for graduates of St. Paul's High School in Highland who wish to study at SIUE. A graduate of St. Paul's, Hastings is a sophomore at SIUE and a member of the Student Advisory Committee of the SIUE Foundation.

The Hiram Walker — Gooderham & Works Ltd. Loan Fund has been established to assist "worthy students at SIUE." This is the first time a company outside the United States has made a contribution to the university, Schweitzer said. Gooderham & Works is located in Walkerville, Ont., Canada.

Caterpillar Tractor Co. of Peoria has made the initial contribution to the SIUE Accounting Club for a loan fund it hopes establish to assist students majoring in accounting.

In addition to the new loan funds, the Woodwind Student Award Fund has been started by the woodwind faculty. Each year a student majoring in woodwinds at SIUE will receive a $50 award at Honors Day ceremonies held annually in May. Herbert Oberlag and George Melott of the woodwind faculty are sponsors of this award.

Year of Short Summer Scheduled by Colleges

This is the year of the "short summer" at three and possibly more of the major state universities in Illinois.

Illinois State University, the University of Illinois and Northern Illinois University, in August, will switch their academic calendars to the "early semester" plan. Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Edwardsville are considering the change and Sangamon State University at Springfield has made the request to its Board of Regents.

Basically, the new calendar amounts to this: Classes will begin in late August, with the first semester to end prior to Christmas, thereby avoiding the three-week "lame duck" session which has come between New Year's and the close of the first semester in years past.

The second semester will begin in early January and terminate in early or mid-May. Thus, the basic school year will run from August to May, instead of September to June.

Summer sessions vary at the schools making the change. At Illinois State, for example, the regular eight-week summer term will run at about the same time, from mid-June to early August. However, instead of a three-week "post-session" in August, there will be a "pre-session" of short courses and workshops beginning in mid-May.

The calendar change, which is designed to provide more continuity in instruction during the semesters, will require some major adjustments at the universities, but these, too, will vary according to program.

The pinch will be felt a bit more this year than in the future, since there will be only a two-month gap between the close of one academic year and the start of another.

It means that all scheduling must move up a notch, maintenance schedules revised so that buildings will be ready, computerized records advanced so that class assignments are completed and telephone directories ready a month earlier, employee vacation schedules altered so that the full work force is available during a month when many vacationed in the past, text-book orders expedited, campus housing assignments moved ahead, deliveries of food and other commodities used on the campuses updated, student orientation programs compressed.

For universities such as Illinois State with a full sports program, the new calendar means that different arrangements will have to be made to accommodate to spring sports schedules from 1974 onward, since students will be departing at the height of the baseball, tennis and track seasons.

In years past, university maintenance crews have looked forward to August as the time when they could get into classroom buildings to do necessary work which is impossible when classes are in session, day and night, during the remainder of the year. The year of the "short summer" will throw a monkey wrench into those plans.

Illinois State has three major new buildings coming on line this fall, which means that their completion and occupation dates must be moved ahead a full month from years past.

The new calendar has one other facet that few persons mention out loud. The second semester will end in early May, a time that "spring fever" on college campuses often reaches its peak. Could be that even that will have to be scheduled ahead.

Dental School Remodeling Approved by SIU Trustees

Five buildings on the Alton campus of Southern Illinois University will be remodeled to provide space for additional School of Dental Medicine enrollment anticipated next fall.

The University's Board of Trustees has approved the remodeling, which will be funded through a $240,000 health professions start-up assistance grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The remodeling will make the buildings "minimally acceptable" for the academic effort to be made in them, trustees were advised. As funds become available in the future, additional renovations may be sought in the same buildings.

Initial plans for the School of Dental Medicine called for remodeling of selected buildings at Alton to accommodate an entering class of 24 students. When these plans were made it was anticipated that a permanent facility for the school would be increased.

However, the Illinois Board of Higher Education has asked that any decision on a permanent facility at Edwardsville be delayed until at least 1980.

The newest round of remodeling will permit the school to admit 40 additional students next September, making the total School of Dental Medicine enrollment at that time 64 students. The increase in entering class size has been approved by the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Education.

The remodeled buildings will be used to house a biomedical library, a medical services laboratory, research space in applied science and office space.

Chairman William D. "Biff" Thomas announced the Swim-A-Thon will take place Friday, Feb. 23, from 6 p.m. to midnight and Saturday, Feb. 24, from noon to midnight.

The Swim-A-Thon is a project to raise funds for the YMCA's World Service Program and needed funds for the local YMCA. Members and non-members who believe in the YMCA and its goals may participate as swimmers or sponsors.

The "swim" works this way. The swimmers picks up Sponsors sign up sheets and ask neighbors, friends, relatives and others to sponsor him or her for so much money for each length of the YMCA's 20-yard swimming pool that he or she swims. Each swimmer is allowed 15 minutes in the pool. At the end of that period the number of lengths is recorded by a committee member. After that time the swimmers collect from their sponsors pledge, which is tax deductible.

Youths who are 21 years old who are not on their own must have parental approval. The "swim" is a project of the YMCA Board, Health and Physical Education Committee, and Aquatic Staff.

Application and other details may be obtained by stopping at or calling the YMCA, 876-7200.

Pianist Graffman Shows Chopin Genius in Album

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

It has been 25 years this year since Gary Graffman won the Leventritt Prize as a teenaged wizard of the piano. In the 25th anniversary season of Graffman's debut, Columbia Masterworks presents the brilliant pianist playing selections that reflect the full range of genius of Frederic Francois Chopin.

There is the incredibly difficult "Scherzo No. 2 in B-Flat Minor"; the moody "Nocturne No. 15 in D-Flat Major" ("Rain-drops"); the poetic "Ballade No. 1 in G Minor"; the soaring "Andante Spianato and Grande Polonaise Brillante"; the miniature masterpieces: "Nocturne in C-Sharp Minor"; and others.

Graffman, a mature artist of tremendous power and technical skill, evokes the rainbow of color of Chopin's compositions. He is quiet when the sentiment requires it, and thunderously bold when the mood changes. Graffman never buries notes in waves of sound. His clarity and control are remarkable. The LP is called "Graffman Plays Chopin." And indeed he does.

Ed Ames remains one of the top "class" singers in clubs and on records. He plays to SRO at nightclubs such as the Riviera in Las Vegas and the Plaza Hotels' Persian Room in New York.

His latest albums "Ed Ames Remembers Jim Reeves" and "Songs from 'Lost Horizon' and Themes From Other Movies" on the RCA label are winners.

The late Jim Reeves' recordings did more to promote country music than any other country star. Ames' style, voice, warmth and sincerity are perfect for the material. Stand-out takes are "He'll Have to Go," "Four Walls" and the haunting "Distant Drums."

Ames' treatment of the score of "Lost Horizon" is great. To get the full benefit of his style listen to "Living Together, Growing Together" and "The World Is A Circle."

Tony Bennett puts you in the romantic mood in "The Good Things In Life," an RCA LP.

Blackburn Theatre To Stage 'Antigone'

The Theatre Department of Blackburn College will present Sophocles' timeless tragedy "Antigone," Friday and Saturday.

Judith Puckett, a Blackburn student, and Larry B. McEwen, head of the Department of Speech and Theatre, are co-directing.

"Antigone" will be presented in the traditional Greek style with a six-member female chorus, masks and other devices extremely faithful to the time.

Named to Dean's List

Stanley D. Hoffman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hoffman Sr., 3273 Justina Road, has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Jacksonville (Fla.) University. He is a senior fine arts student.

Students in Laboratory Program Scoring Higher

Students in an experimental interdisciplinary management laboratory program conducted by the Business Division at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have scored significantly higher grades on conceptual ability tests than students in more conventional business courses.

A report on the program was given to the SIUE Board of Trustees by John W. Leonard, dean of the Business Division. The program is one of several at the university involving new teaching techniques and new educational formats.

Forty students in the management laboratory program completed three quarters of interdisciplinary work last spring. During that time, direct class contact with instructors was reduced by slightly more than 50%. Instead of heavy emphasis on traditional classroom instruction, the laboratory program uses case study, simulation and field training methods to expose students to real business problems. Individual self-directed study is stressed.

The laboratory includes a bank of demographic, social, economic and financial information on problem areas from which students can gather data through written questions to laboratory operators who retrieve requested information.

Students do their own information research and use the data to develop ideas and write reports.

Problems selected are interdisciplinary, requiring knowledge of all the courses involved in the experimental program.

During the experiment described to the trustees, courses involved covered six disciplines: accounting, business administration, economics, finance, management science and marketing.

Four junior year business administration courses were offered each quarter. In addition three optional courses were offered on a continuing basis in other specialization areas. Students in the experimental program took all of the core courses and all or part of the optional courses.

The final report on the problem was graded by all professors from the courses involved and was the only grade given to participants in the experiment.

One one-hour lecture and one hour class was allocated to each of the core courses. In addition, students attended two 90-minute interdisciplinary problem laboratories each week. Optional courses met for four 90-minute seminars each quarter.

An extensive evaluation of the experimental program showed no significant differences in the amount of knowledge acquired by students in the experimental program, compared to knowledge acquired by students in the traditional business program.

However, other tests demonstrated that students in the experimental program scored significantly higher in their ability to use multi-disciplinary information and concepts in dealing with business and social problems than those trained more conventionally.

The study suggests that concept training using actual cases may be an effective method to increase a student's conceptual ability, the trustees were told.

The SIUE experiment has stimulated national and international inquiries. Three SIUE Business Division faculty members have written a book describing the concept of the program which is to be published soon. Several faculty members have presented papers on the program at national education meetings.

Dean Leonard said the management problem laboratory method could be used to broaden course offerings to undergraduate students and to upgrade off-campus programs.
